Dear Viviane,

I'm writing to you from my village. We're having a wonderful time here. Every morning our big cock crows, and the people wake up and start doing their activities.

I can hear my uncle in the yard. He's sharpening the machetes to go to the farm. He sharpens them once a week early in the morning. My cousin Ekissi is cutting wood to make a fire. He cuts wood for us every day. My aunt is cooking some rice. She always cooks for us when we go to the farm.

My sister is fetching water at the well. It is a difficult job but we enjoy it. We usually play in the farm with our friends.
