- 3/ Yes, my cousin has gone to Spain because he couldn't find a job here. / My brother went to study in the UK and then he stayed there.

In search of better life- a migrant's story

My name is Sanga. I'm 26 years old. I come from a small village in Nigeria. Two years ago, I tried to reach the Canary Islands but I was caught and deported back to Nigeria. Now I'm on my way to try again.

My childhood in Nigeria was hard. My father died when my brothers and I were still very young, and my mother didn't have a job. We were very poor and she had to struggle every day to find enough food for all of us. I realised that if I wanted to escape poverty and improve life for myself and my family, I had no choice: I had to leave Nigeria, even if it meant leaving my home and family. I had to find a good job somewhere to be able to send money back to them.

I left in 2009. After I had travelled through Niger Republic, Libya, and Algeria, I finally reached Morocco. On the way, I found jobs wherever I could, in cafés, restaurants or barber shops. I was caught by the police several times. One day they beat my legs so badly that I couldn't walk for almost a week. When a friend of mine told me about a man who could help us get to the Canaries, I agreed to join him on the journey (...).

I had to give the man 350 euros. He took us into the desert where other Africans were already waiting. On July 20th 2012, we boarded the boats. There were two boats, each carrying around thirty people. The sea was rough and after a few hours, lots of us started vomiting. I was feeling really sick and started to believe I would never make it alive. We had been sailing for a few hours, when a huge wave hit the boat, and water started pouring in. Everyone was screaming. The boat started to sink. Luckily, we were rescued by a police boat that was patrolling the coast. If they hadn't found us, I think we would all have died at sea. The police picked us up, sent us to a detention camp and I was deported back to Nigeria. As for the people in the other boat, I have no idea what happened to them.

In Nigeria, I started saving money again, and after a few months left for the second time. With a friend, I went to Benin, through Togo, Burkina Faso and Mali to Algeria. As we were looking for someone to help us cross the desert, we were caught by the Algerian police and sent back to Mali. From there, I finally managed to travel back to Morocco. I've been working in Morocco for six months now, saving money. Whenever I get another chance, I shall try again

Don't trust whoever you meet on Facebook.

You want to buy whatever you see on Jumia.

LISTENING TEXT:

I turn on a tap in my home and get running water for whatever I need. I can't believe the changes since my childhood. When I was a child everyone in the village used river water for drinking and cooking. The villagers also did the washing up, washed their clothes and bathed in the same river. I shudder when I imagine the quality of the water we drank. The bad quality of the water resulted in so many water borne diseases. I don't know how we survived There was just one hospital run by missionaries in the whole area. People had to trek for many days to get there. Serious cases were transported to the hospital on bamboo stretchers carried by four men on their shoulders.

It was a difficult life. People worked long hours on the farms and there was no entertainment on the dark nights. There were no TVs or bars so people went to bed early. Parents told their children fireside stories if they were not too exhausted after their long day at work. There was no electricity and kerosene lamps were a luxury. Instead, we used oil lanterns made from old tins or bottles with a piece of cloth for a wick. When we had to move about at night we used a piece of firewood from the fire place to light our way. These days I tend to forget those dark nights. Now, all I have to do is touch a switch and the light comes on. When I move about at night there are street lights. It is a different world.

2/ the deterioration of the sewage system can have some consequences on people's health.

3/ If the tap water is polluted, it can transmit several diseases to the people who drink it.

Activity 3: Binta is complaining about the frequent power cuts that happen in her neighbourhood. She is writing to the manager of the National Electricity Board.

Activity 4:

1/ the tone of the letter is polite, factual, concise and formal.

2/ Binta says that power cuts make it difficult to study and also have a negative impact on people's businesses.

3/ the tone of the final paragraph is conciliatory.

4/ in my opinion, it is an effective letter, because it is very clear and factual and it explains the problem without being rude.

TEXT MODEL: THE FORMAL LETTER OF COMPLAINT

The Manager of the National Electricity Board

Binta Ndale
PO Box 47 Douala

13 April 2015

Dear Sir or Madam,

I live in the Douala Fifth district and I go to the Bonamoussadi High School. I wish to make a complaint about the frequent power cuts that we have in my neighbourhood. These sometimes last for several weeks at a time. The most recent power cut lasted from 25th March to 5th April. Other cuts have lasted even longer.

Power cuts make it very difficult to study. When there is no electricity, we cannot use computers, and we do not have access to the Internet. Furthermore, we cannot listen to CDs in our English lessons. In the evenings, we have no electricity and therefore no lighting at home. In these conditions, it is impossible to do homework or prepare for exams. People depend on mobile phones for employment and business, but without electricity they cannot be charged. This has a negative impact on people's lives and businesses.

I realise that technical problems are inevitable, but a reliable power system is essential. We pay for our electricity and therefore I feel that we should receive a good service. I hope the supply can be improved for the benefit of everyone.

Yours faithfully,
Binta Ndale

Communication activity

Choose one of the problems in exercise 1. Imagine the situation and its consequences.

Write a letter of complaint to the authority responsible for the service.

State what you think should be done and why.

Paragraph 1: State the complaint, including concise details.

Paragraph 2: Describe the consequences of the problem.

Paragraph 3: State what should be done.

Write your letter in 200 to 250 words following the paragraph plan. The best letter will be published in your school's English Club's magazine.

Possible answers:

Problem 2 (209 words)

Dear Sir or Madam,

I live in the ... district and I go to the ... High School. I would like to make a complaint about the sewage system in my area. The system has seriously deteriorated in the last few weeks, and dirty water now accumulates in low areas. This is both smelly and unhealthy.

The accumulation of dirty water is extremely smelly, which is unpleasant for all the people who live in the neighbourhood. What's more, this situation will have worrying consequences on people's health if nothing is done. People in contact with dirty water have indeed more risks of catching diseases such as cholera or dysentery. This is particularly dangerous for people with a more fragile health like children, pregnant women or elderly people. When these illnesses are not treated rapidly and correctly, they can cause serious health problems, and in the worst cases they can lead to death.

I realise that you may sometimes face difficulties in maintaining the sewage system, but an efficient sewage system is essential to people's well-being and health. That's why I hope that you will do everything that's in your power to renovate the system, for the benefit and the well-being of everyone in our area.

Yours faithfully,
Samuel Ndale

Problem 3 (202 words)

Dear Sir or Madam,

I live in the ... district, in the building in front of the post office. I am writing to make a complaint about the bad quality of the running water these days in my building.

The tap water has been coming out white for the last few days, and I fear it might transmit typhoid.

The unusual white colour of the tap water is worrying me as well as the other people living in the same building. We are aware that contaminated water can transmit typhoid fever, a bacterial infection which can have very serious consequences on people's health. We feel extremely concerned about the community's health, especially as several people living in our building are already suffering from a bad health, and therefore face more risks in case of a contamination.

I understand that some difficulties are inevitable for your company, as for all companies, but the quality of the tap water is essential to people's health, and I feel it should be a priority. Therefore, I truly hope that the water will be analysed as soon as possible and its quality improved for the benefit and health of everyone in our building.

Yours faithfully,

Julie Amari

UNIT 2: FREEDOM AND CIVIL RIGHTS/ Terminal D

TEXT: Who benefits the most from land grabbing?

In October 2014, Malala Yousafzai, a seventeen-year-old Pakistani activist, became the youngest ever Nobel Peace Prize winner. Despite her young age, she had already achieved a lot. Since the age of 11 she had stood up for girls' rights to education, fighting against illiteracy and discrimination.

Malala's commitment to girls' education had started with her writing an anonymous blog published on BBC Urdu, in which she depicted the living conditions of a schoolgirl under Taliban rule. In 2009, the Taliban were in control of the Swat Valley, in the north-west region of Pakistan, where she lived with her family and went to school. The Taliban had published an edict banning girls' education and most girls' schools had to close. Many girls' schools were bombed. In her blog, Malala expressed her fears and worries, speaking out for girls' rights and against the injustice of the edict, which meant that girls couldn't continue their education.

Malala and her family, like thousands of other residents, had to flee the Valley and weren't able to return for several months. One would have thought that this would have been the end of her struggle, and that her voice would never have been heard outside Pakistan. But she was soon identified as the writer of the blog by the Taliban, and she became one of their targets. On 9 October 2012, as she was travelling home on the school bus after an exam, Malala was attacked by the Taliban. A masked gunman shot at her and she was hit with one bullet, which severely wounded her head and neck. Two other girls were also injured in the shooting, but less seriously. Malala was rushed to a military hospital in Peshawar for emergency treatment. Her condition was critical and doctors had to operate because her brain was swelling. She was later transferred to a hospital in the UK for further surgery. After many weeks in hospital, she finally recovered with no brain damage. After the attack, she could have given up her combat out of fear. But she did exactly the contrary. Her determination to speak out and campaign for girls' rights grew stronger and stronger. In 2013, she gave a speech at the United Nations General Assembly, demanding compulsory free schools for all children, both boys and girls, and she became a role model for education activists around the world. She also published her autobiography, I am Malala, telling about her experience and ambitions, and she created the Malala Fund to bring financial support to girls' schools. Today, as about 66 million girls around the world are still denied access to education, Malala's fight can be seen as an encouragement not to take anything for granted. Malala strongly believes that children can make a difference and should stand up for their own rights. Her life so far is certainly a deeply convincing illustration of that belief.

Lesson3: THE INFORMAL LETTER/ EMAIL

Lesson type: Writing (session 1)

Duration: 55 minutes

Source/Reference: Far Ahead 2nd

I- PRE-WRITING

Warm up: (1 min)

* Brainstorming (lead in activity) (2 min)

- What can you do with an envelope?
- Which sort of letter can we write? (formal, informal, email...)

* Learning context (2 min)

For the next English club of College HMF of Méagui, the chairman asked the students of T<sup>le</sup> A to have a writing competition about “people’s rights”. He asks them to write an email to their pen friends in order to get prepared for the competition, the students make a report to their classmates.

Features of informal emails.

In informal emails, we use:

- Contractions: I’m (NOT I am), can’t (NOT cannot)
- First names in greetings: Dear Cathy, Hi Sam
- Expressions such as: write soon, see you soon, bye, love...

Activity 1: Read the letter. Reorder the paragraphs A-E following the paragraph plan.

- Paragraph1: Ask about your friend
- Paragraph 2: Give news about your family and friends
- Paragraph 3-4: Give news about yourself and say how you feel
- Paragraph 5: Give more positive news about yourself

Activity 2: Read the letter again and answer the questions.

- 1- What is the relationship between Akim and Ousmane? How do you know?
- 2- What disability does Akim have?
- 3- What makes him feel very unhappy?
- 4- What is his ambition? Why?

Activity 3: Match the informal words and phrases in black in the letter with these words and phrases

- annoy - contact – difficult- to expect extremely - friends - it's impossible -to make me sad - quite well - What are you doing? -wonderful
- words and phrases in the text: mates - gets me down.- terribly - What are you up to- awesome - ok - There’s no question of - a bit of - get our backs up- around the next corner! - touch

ANSWER SHEET

Activity 1:

Paragraph 1: B

Paragraph 2: E

Paragraph 3: D

Paragraph 4: A

Paragraph 5: C

Activity 2:

- 1- Akim and Ousmane are brothers. We know it because Akim writes about 'Nadia' and 'Kassim' who must be their younger sister and younger brother, and also because he writes 'Mum sends her love' at the end of his letter to Ousmane.
- 2- Akim is in a wheelchair.
- 3- Akim feels unhappy because there are many things he can't do with his friends and because he is completely dependent.
- 4- Akim would like to study law in Britain, where some universities have excellent facilities for disabled students.

Activity 3:

- mates → friends
- gets me down → makes me sad
- terribly → extremely
- What are you up to? → what are you doing?
- awesome → wonderful
- ok → well
- tough → difficult
- a bit of → quite
- There's no question of → It's impossible to
- get our backs up → annoy
- around the next corner → to expect
- touch → contact

Hi Ousmane,

A/ I often get depressed because I can't do things with my friends. You know how much I love football. I sometimes go along to matches, but it only makes me feel left out. My mates are great. They do their best to include me in things. It's being dependent that gets me down. I can't do anything on my own, even things like having a shower or getting dressed. It's terribly frustrating and humiliating.

B/ What are you up to? I've heard that your town is an awesome city. Are you settling in ok? Is there a cool music scene? And your social life?

C/ But despite the difficulties, I haven't given up and I'm working hard for the Baccalaureate exam. I'd like to get a scholarship to study law in Britain. I've heard that facilities for disabled students are excellent in some universities there.

D/ As for me, well, things are tough, as you can imagine. I'm in my final year and it's a bit of a struggle. But I shouldn't complain because all my classes are downstairs. The principal changed the rooms, so I can get to them. Transport is a problem. I can't go on Thursdays because Mum can't take me. There's no question of getting there alone in a wheelchair. You know what the roads are like.

E/ Here things are much the same. Nadia is doing well at high school. Kassim is as lazy as ever. He spends all his time playing horrible music. He only does it to get our backs up!

That's all for now. Sorry to be so negative. Enjoy yourself. You never know what's around the next corner!

Mum sends her love

Keep in touch

Akim

Warm up:

Lead in activity:

Learning context:

WHILE-LISTENING

Speaker 1: I had to give up my job as a hotel maid to look after Emmanuel because he needs constant care. I feel sad that I can't give them the attention they need because Emmanuel takes up all my time and energy. Luckily, my sister lives nearby and she sometimes looks after him. The most difficult thing for me was accepting that he was different from other children. That was emotionally very hard. I used to feel guilty and angry at the same time. Now I've come to terms with his condition. I love Emmanuel as he is and I'll do everything I can to help him.

Speaker 2: Everything is challenging for someone who can't see. I have been lucky because my parents are both language teachers so they taught me at home. Today I have a job as an interpreter and I am financially independent, which is extremely important for my self-esteem. My social life is complicated because there are many activities that I can't participate in. This makes me suffer more than the practical difficulties of everyday life. Of course, there are a lot of these. I'd say that the most difficult thing is moving around in unfamiliar places, especially in crowded streets. For this reason, I tend to stick to my neighbourhood where people know me. There's always someone to offer assistance. And if I have to travel, I ask someone to accompany me.

ANSWER SHEET

Activity 1:

A/ It must be difficult for Moussa to go out in the street by himself or to travel by himself.

B/ It's probably difficult for Aicha to be independent and to live without somebody helping her.

C/ Fatima must have difficulties communicating with other people.

D/ It must be difficult for Emmanuel to socialise with other children, and it must be difficult for Nadia to take care of Emmanuel and have a job at the same time.

Health challenges in developing countries

Infectious diseases are among the greatest challenges to health in developing countries today. Each year, millions of people die of diseases such as AIDS or malaria, but also from pneumonia, tuberculosis, measles and polio. And yet many of these diseases are preventable and some of them are curable.

Ill-health is directly connected to poverty. Populations of developing countries suffer from poor access to basic sanitation services such as safe drinking water and sewage disposal, making them more vulnerable than people in wealthier countries. Moreover, many governments lack the financial resources to provide efficient healthcare or build basic infrastructure such as hospitals and clinics for their populations. This is especially true in rural areas where there are few doctors and often only rudimentary medical facilities. Another consequence of poverty is that a lot of people have little or no access to medication. Some drugs that are widely available in developed countries are simply unaffordable in less privileged parts of the globe. And the inequality is emphasised by the tendency of global pharmaceutical companies to invest more money in research for treatments and cures of so-called 'Western' diseases, which are economically much more profitable.

Malaria is one example of a preventable disease that spreads mostly in developing countries. This disease, caused by a parasite transmitted by the bite of infected mosquitoes, kills about 800,000 people every year. According to the World Health Organization (WHO), 90% of victims live in Africa, and children under five are the most affected. Malaria can be prevented by large scale use of insecticide-treated mosquito nets. Frequent controls in areas of high transmission can also reduce the deadly impact of the disease, by detecting it early and treating it with anti-malarial medicines. But while an efficient treatment does exist, few people can afford it in the poorest countries.

In the next decades, many developing countries will also be confronted with lifestyle diseases such as lung cancer and diabetes, which so far have been considered to primarily affect Western countries. Increased urbanisation, leading to more sedentary lifestyles and a change in diet, is indeed likely to cause a rise in obesity and overweight issues, factors of diabetes. Though the number of people suffering from diabetes in Africa is relatively low today, WHO predicts that this number will have doubled by 2030. The consequences of diabetes, such as damage caused to the heart, blood vessels or the eyes, are often ignored or underestimated, but can be prevented through a healthy diet, regular physical activity and suppression of tobacco use. That's why WHO estimates that prevention should be a top-priority in developing countries.

Ill-health reflects a country's state of poverty and has a direct impact on the society's social and economic development. Only by fighting poverty will governments and populations manage to globally improve access to treatment and efficiently deal with health challenges.

WORKSHEET: UNIT 4: DEVELOPMENT ISSUE/ LESSON 3: THE ARTICLE

ACTIVITY 1: These different parts of an article are in disorder. Reorder them in order to make a meaningful article.

A ... The fate of the Kayapo people is similar to that of many other native populations whose culture is being sacrificed in the name of development. But the modern world needs the knowledge and wisdom of indigenous peoples. These people have adapted over thousands of years to their natural environment and they have a lot to teach us today.

B ... The Brazilian government needs to realise the importance of the Kayapo's heritage. It should abandon the dam project and develop less damaging and sustainable energy sources. The culture of the Kayapo people is unique. Once it is gone, it is gone forever.

C ... The Kayapo people have a strong sense of identity. They have their own tribal rituals, artistic expressions, and language. The Kayapo get medicine from over 650 plants found on their territory. They live in settlements in the forest where they hunt, fish, and practise "slash and burn" farming where land is cultivated for a few years, then they move on to a new area.

D ... The land along the Xingu River and its tributaries in eastern Brazil is the ancestral home of the Kayapo people. Their territory covers over 11 million hectares of tropical rainforest and grassland. But the livelihood of this indigenous population is under serious threat. The Brazilian government has authorised the construction of a dam that will flood their homeland and force them to abandon their way of life.

E ... Today, the Kayapo are fighting for their survival. The government is planning to flood about 1,600 square kilometres of Indian land and create the largest manmade lake in the world. If the Belo Monte project went ahead, over 3,000 Kayapo Indians would be displaced from their homes. It would also threaten the lives of people living downstream.

PRESIDENT VISITS VICTIMS OF TOXIC WASTE

President Gbagbo, president of Côte d'Ivoire paid a visit to the victims of toxic waste living in Abobo yesterday, in a state and governmental delegation composed of his cabinet and some representative ministers to express the nation's solidarity to them. Yesterday, by 4:00PM, the president and the official delegation called on each victim from Abobo who were pleased to receive comfort from the highest authorities of the state led by the president himself.

This visit was carried out to express the government's comfort to the victims and to remind them that they were not orphans and they will never be abandoned in their distress, and that they could always hope in such ordeals.

The visit was very pathetic, and such attitudes from the authorities are to be encouraged.

In the Year 2200

1- I am sure that the world will be very different in the year 2200 if humans survive. Technology will solve many of our problems, and it will help improve people's lives. Unfortunately, this won't happen for a long time.

2- The 21st century will probably be a difficult time. Oil and gas will run out and this will seriously affect transport and industry. By 2050, there will be about 9 billion people on Earth. This overpopulation will have serious consequences, such as wars for water and food.

3- Things will start to improve from 2100. Solar and wind power will be the main forms of energy, so there will be less pollution. Space travel will develop, and people will start living on other planets.

4- In general, I am optimistic about the future. I believe that in 2200, there will be fewer people on Earth. They will be better educated and have better lives.

Listening text

Hundreds of Kayapo Indians have been protesting in the capital of Brazil against the construction of what will be the world's third largest hydroelectric dam. If the Belo Monte dam is built, the Kayapo's land will be flooded. The tribe's leader, Raoni, delivered a petition signed by more than half a million people to the government in Brasilia, the country's capital.

The Brazilian Energy Minister says that the dam is crucial for development and will create jobs as well as providing electricity to 23 million homes. He added that the populations affected by the Belo Monte dam would receive financial compensation and they would be resettled.

But opponents to the project say the 6km dam will threaten the survival of a number of indigenous groups and could make up to 50,000 people homeless because 500 sq. km would be flooded.

Raoni said that the dam would destroy his people's rivers, their jungle and their way of life. Another leader warned that if the government tried to drive the tribe from their land, they would fight for their rights.

TEXT: Baby building

Want a pole-skinned, blue-eyed daughter; or a son with dark hair and brown eyes; or how about twins? This is the ultimate shopping experience: designing your baby.

A Los Angeles fertility clinic shocked the medical world by offering would-be parents the opportunity of choosing features like hair and eye colour of their future babies. The announcement caused public outrage and the clinic stopped offering the service, but for how long? Now parents know that the technology is available, it may be too late to go back.

Genetic technology has progressed in leaps and bounds since the birth in Britain in 1978 of Louise Brown, the first ever 'test-tube' baby. Geneticists have now identified the genes that are responsible for about sixty lethal diseases and they are able to screen embryos for inherited diseases. Doctors can identify genetic anomalies on an embryo's chromosomes and select only the healthy ones. This technique has allowed thousands of parents who carry genetic disorders to have healthy children.

Until recently, parents couldn't choose the gender of their babies. They can now. Many US clinics already offer the service to perfectly healthy couples who just want to choose the sex of their child, and who can afford to pay up to $20,000. Banned in Britain and most European countries, gender-selection is legal in the US where more and more couples desire a so-called 'balanced frankly,' with an equal number of sons and daughters.

Thanks to genetic selection, designer babies are no longer the stuff of science-fiction. Geneticists haven't identified the genes responsible for all our physical and mental attributes yet, but things are moving fast. Within a decade or two it may be possible to screen kids for a whole range of things, such as height, build, or even their IQ, musical talents and personality. So far, it is only possible to select genes that are already in the future parents' DNA. If neither parent has the genes for, say, green eyes, it's impossible for their child to have green eyes. But how long will that last? Scientists can already manipulate the genes of animals. They can clone dogs and cats. It is only a matter of time before someone tries to do the same with humans.

Dr Steinberg of the Los Angeles clinic believes that if the science is available, there's no reason not to use it. But not everyone agrees. The idea of babies becoming items that you buy off the shelf is horrifying. Do we have a right to interfere with a future child's personality and appearance? Genetic selection could lead to new forms of discrimination. Will kids born with socially undesirable traits feel like 'second-class' citizens? How will sex-selection affect the gender balance in societies that value boys more than girls? Whatever our views on designer babies, the technology is here and there's no going back. Laws against baby building could slow things down, but sooner or later someone will do it.

Life in a big city is better for young people than the traditional rural lifestyle. Discuss.

Many young people are choosing to leave their rural homes and move to big cities. They are attracted by the fast pace of city life which contrasts sharply with life in the country. However, there are both advantages and disadvantages of living in a big city as opposed to a small village. Firstly, let's look at some advantages of city life.

Most big cities are multicultural so you can meet people from different backgrounds. This broadens horizons and opens your mind to new and different ideas. In addition, cities offer plenty of opportunities for going out as there are sports centres, theatres, clubs and cultural centres. Another major advantage is access to education as the best high schools and universities are in the city. And of course, there are more work opportunities because of the large number of businesses. Another argument is that the main hospitals are in the city so you have access to quality healthcare, which is often poor in rural areas.

On the other hand, there are disadvantages of living in the city. Firstly, crime is prevalent and you have to be careful not to become a victim of pickpockets or drug dealers. Another problem is the huge amount of traffic, which is noisy, dangerous and causes unhealthy air pollution. The city can also be a very lonely place if you do not know anyone and you have no relatives there. In conclusion, despite a number of disadvantages, it is clear that city life offers many benefits for young people.

In my view, for people who are ambitious and want to get on in life, or aspire to a modern lifestyle, the city is the better place to live.

High-rise buildings are a better form of housing in big cities than individual houses. Discuss.

- 1- Brainstorm arguments for and against high-rise buildings.
- 2- Make notes in a table.

Paragraph 1: Introduction

Paragraph 2: Points in favor

Paragraph 3: Additional points in favor

Paragraph 4: Points against

Paragraph 5: Conclusion: sum up and give your opinion

Write your essay in 250 to 300 words following the paragraph plan. Use paragraph linkers.

Example of writing

More and more people today are choosing to live in big cities rather than rural areas. In some cities, the only form of housing available is high-rise buildings, while in others people can also live in individual houses. As urbanisation increases, the number of high-rise buildings is also increasing very rapidly. We will see that there are both advantages and disadvantages of living in that kind of building.

First, let's have a look at some advantages of high rise buildings. These buildings can offer housing to a very important number of people while taking up less space. Consequently, the density of population can be increased in the city. This is an essential point as urban growth constantly reduces the amount of space available in big cities.

Another major argument is that the system of services and infrastructure can be more rational and efficient in neighbourhoods with many high-rise buildings. Services such as sewage treatment, refuse collection or electricity can be more easily put in common.

However, there are also disadvantages of living in high-rise buildings. They tend to be overcrowded and noisy. People who are used to living in rural areas might suffer from the extreme proximity with the neighbours and the lack of privacy. Also, people can't have their own garden, which is possible with individual houses.

To conclude, in spite of several disadvantages, it appears that in big cities, high-rise buildings are a better form of housing than individual houses. In my opinion, high-rise buildings are more adapted to city life. They make it easier for the authorities to answer the needs of the populations and face the challenges brought by the rapid increase of urban growth.

TEACHING POINTS
VOCABULARY	Language Function	STRUCTURES
Prefixes: mono, bio, multi	The conditional	If I had money, I would develop my country. I he had come on time, he would have reached the train.

INTRODUCTORY PHASE (5 min)

Warm up: (1min)

Lead-in activity: (2 min)

Learning context (3 min)

The students of Terminale A of College HMF Meagui are exchanging information on the economy of African countries in order to raise their awareness on opportunities and challenges in economy and business and discuss the issue.

INPUT PHASE (15 min)

A/ VOCABULARY: prefixes mono, bio, multi

♣ Mono: one, single

Example: monopoly, monotonous, monoculture

♣ Multi: the condition of being various, numerous, not single, not one

Example: multimedia, multicultural, multipartism,

♣ Bio: natural, the living organism

Example: biology, biochemist, biomass

B/ LANGUAGE FUNCTION: expressing conditional

a- We use the first conditional: (if+ present simple, will / won't + verb) for things that are possible or likely to happen.

Example: If the government sells the land to foreign companies, they will plant monocultures for export.

b- We use the second conditional: (if+ past simple, would /wouldn't + verb) for things that are imaginary or unlikely to happen.

Example: If we had enough money, we would buy the land and farm it ourselves.

c- We use the third conditional: (if+ past perfect, would / wouldn't have+ past participle) for imaginary things that didn't happen in the past.

Example: If we had been evicted from our land, we would have been forced to move to the city

Notice: We can use can, may, might, could and should instead of will and would in conditional sentences.

For example: If they use fertilisers, they can increase crop yields.

We sometimes used 'mixed conditionals' to link a past event with something in the present or future. We usually mix 2nd and 3rd conditionals.

For example: If I had studied agronomy, I'd apply for that job on a plantation. If I had passed my test, I would buy a car.

ACTIVATION / PRACTICE PHASE (10 min) (Worksheet)+ (4 min fb)

- 4- TV, radio and the Internet are modern forms of -----multimedia----- (media)
- 5- They produce sugar cane which is transformed into-----biofuel----- (fuel)

Activity 2: Complete the sentences with the correct verb forms.

- 1- If you ---boil--- (boil) water, you kill most of the germs.
- 2- He ---will sell----(sell) his land if they offer him a good price.
- 3- How would you make a living if you (have) -----had---- a farm?
- 4- If I were you, I ----would grow----- (grow) some crops for food.
- 5- If he -----had not used----- (not use) pesticides, insects would have eaten all his crop.
- 6- If you don't use fertilisers, you ---won't get----- (not get) a good crop yield.

UNIT 5: MANAGING RESOURCES

TEXT: Who benefits the most from land grabbing?

(Text from Far Ahead Tle, p56)

Over the past few years, multinational companies, as well as some foreign governments, have been investing in land in over 60 countries, mostly in Africa and South America. Companies acquire land because there is money to be made, while governments see it as a way to ensure food security for their populations.

The economic crisis of 2008 certainly accelerated the process. If the crisis had not been so severe, the land rush might not have appeared so urgent for countries. The recession reinforced the fear of food scarcity and an increase in food prices; as a result, many investors saw land grabbing as the ideal way to make huge profits. In Africa, for example, more than 30 million hectares have been 'grabbed' during the past 5 years - about 4 million in Sudan alone. The land is used to grow large monocultures of palm oil or food crops such as corn and rice, while sugar cane is grown for biofuel, in particular in Mozambique and Tanzania. These crops are exported to meet the needs of Asian, Middle Eastern and Western markets.

How does land grabbing affect local populations? Many investors claim that land grabbing brings new opportunities and economic development to rural communities, and therefore can help reduce food insecurity and poverty. Some investors may be well-intentioned, but so far land grabs have mainly had a disastrous impact on local populations.

Grabbing means evicting farmers and families, forcing them off their own land. In most cases, the farmers are left with no means of subsistence, no jobs, no food. Even when food is being produced on the land that used to belong to them, they do not benefit from it. Land grabbing could only help reduce hunger and poverty if part of the food crops were used to feed local populations, but this is not the case today. What can local populations do? How should they react? Defending their land is all the more difficult since the dispossession is generally carried out without prior notice, without consulting the communities or asking for their consent. Farmers' organisations, human rights groups and social movements are mobilising worldwide, looking for ways to obtain more transparency and to support family farming. In October 2014, for example, the first Africa Conference on Land Grabs was organised in South Africa to address these issues. If local populations come together and make themselves heard, they might be able to limit the negative impact of land grabbing and recover food sovereignty. But there is still a long way to go before investors and local communities can become partners and cease to be opponents. Promoting agricultural development and addressing the world's food security problems require investing in farmers, not in farmland.

Lead in activity

Learning context:

For the conference that will take place in your school, the chairman of the English club of “College HMF Meagui” asked the students of Tle to make a talk about our to develop the country economically. You and your classmates do it and share experiences.

Writing strategy:

The structure of a talk is similar to an essay:

- An introduction;
- A body;
- A conclusion.

In the introduction, give an overview of what you will talk about. Then write your talk in paragraphs.

Here are some expressions for introducing different parts:

- I'm going to talk about...

MODEL TEXT: A TALK

Good morning. Today, I'm going to talk to you about handwashing. I shall start by explaining why it is extremely important to wash your hands. Then I'll present some simple guidelines about when you should wash them. And finally, I'll describe how to wash your hands properly.

I shall begin by looking at the causes of diarrhoeal diseases. These are common causes of illness and death, particularly among children. However, most of these cases could be prevented if people washed their hands properly.

The reason is because human faeces are the main source of diarrhoeal germs which cause diseases like typhoid, cholera, and other gastro-enteric or respiratory infections. Our faeces are full of germs. Imagine. One gram of human faeces can contain one million bacteria and 10 million viruses!

Now, I'd like to focus on when you should wash your hands. Obviously, it is absolutely essential to wash them after you have been to the toilet. If you don't do so, you are likely to contaminate everything you touch. For example, if you put your finger in your mouth, you contaminate yourself. If you touch food, you can contaminate someone else who eats the food. As a general rule, you should always wash your hands before preparing food, whether you have been to the toilet or not.

My last point is how to wash your hands properly. The aim of washing your hands is to kill the germs. To do this you must use soap and water. You must make sure that you wash every part of each hand, including the backs.

To conclude, by washing your hands regularly and thoroughly, you can save lives. It is the simplest, cheapest and most effective form of preventive medicine. I hope I have convinced you to adopt this habit. Thank you.

Activity 1: Read the following talk above and answer the following questions below.

- 1- What is the topic? .....
- 2- Which paragraphs:
  - a- Explain the importance of handwashing? .....
  - b- Describe how to wash your hands properly? .....
  - c- Sum up? .....
  - d- Explain when to wash your hands? .....

Activity 2: COMMUNICATION

Prepare a talk on the following topic: the importance of drinking clean purified water. Follow the model text and to it. Use expressions there to write your talk in 250 to 300 words. The best talk will be published and rewarded by the director of your school.

Lesson 4:

Lesson type: Listening

Duration: 45 minutes

Source/Reference:

Teaching Materials: picture, worksheet, board

INTRODUCTORY PHASE (5 min)

Warm up:

Lead in activity:

Learning context:

During their English class, the student of T<sup>le</sup> A of “College HMF Meagui” are listening to a BBC Radio Service report about the importance of washing hands in order to know more about it.

INPUTS PHASE

A/ VOCABULARY: adjectives

- Short adjectives: far, good, slow, bad, long, old, rich, fat, dirty, few, clean...
- Long adjectives: expensive, beautiful, creative, wonderful, frequent, marvellous...

B/ LANGUAGE FUNCTION: Using double comparative to show change

Examples:

- a- Deaths in the mine are more and more frequent.
- b- Miners have to go further and further underground.
- c- After 500 years of mining, there is less and less silver to be found.
- d- There are fewer and fewer jobs now that the mine has closed.
- e- The exercises are getting harder and harder.

Answer sheet of the activities

Activity 1: Complete the sentences with double comparative forms with the words in brackets.

- 1/ fewer and fewer – less and less
- 2/ lower and lower
- 3/ later and later
- 4/ less and less – longer and longer

Activity 2: Listen to a talk on how to prevent diarrhoea-related diseases. Then, complete the summary.

Handwashing with soap is the best way to keep yourself healthy and also prevent the transmission of diseases to others. The source of diarrhoeal infections and many respiratory infections is human faeces. That is why it is essential to wash your hands properly after using the toilet. Research shows that handwashing can save more lives than vaccines or medicines.

Activity 3: COMMUNICATION ACTIVITY

Listen to the talk again. What method is the talk promoting? What are the other methods to prevent diseases that you know?

UNIT 5: MANAGING RESOURCES/ LESSON 4: LISTENING/ WORKSHEET

Activity 1: Complete the sentences with double comparative forms. Use the words in brackets.

- a- People live----- here because there is -----employment. (few; less)
- b- The birth rate is getting----- . (low)
- c- The teacher will be angry. You arrive -----at school. (late)
- d- I have----- time with my family because I work -----hours. (less; long)

Activity 2: Listen to a talk on how to prevent diarrhoea-related diseases. Then, complete the summary.

Handwashing with (1)----- is the best way to keep yourself (2)----- and also prevent the transmission of (3)----- to others. TEACHING POINTS
VOCABULARY	Language Function	STRUCTURES
A start up, an award, to launch, a boom, a workforce	Expressing negative structure	His films are seldom seen in the US or Europe. I hardly know the director. I've only met him once.

INTRODUCTORY PHASE (5 min)

Warm up: (1min)

Lead-in activity: (2 min)

Learning context (3 min)

As youngsters and members of your school English Club, you are exploiting some articles about post-independence in order to discuss the issue.

INPUT PHASE (15 min)

A/ VOCABULARY: words linked to economy

♣ A start up: a description of a project

Example:

♣ An award: a prize, a recompense

Example: Leo Messi received the award of best player of the year.

♣ To launch: to start

Example: The minister launched the construction of the 4th bridge in Abidjan.

♣ A boom: a rapid expansion, a rapid development

Example: there was a boom in our economy.

♣ A workforce: all the workers employed by a specific organisation or state.

Example: all the workers of HMF constitute the workforce of College HMF.

B/ LANGUAGE FUNCTION: expressing negative structure

* Use of: never, seldom, rarely, hardly ever, scarcely, neither...nor can replace not and call for the negative form.

Example:

1- His films are seldom seen in the US or Europe.

2- I hardly know the director. I've only met him once.

3- Directors hardly ever use written scripts.

- 4- Sarah was so tired she could scarcely keep her eyes open.
- 5- They rarely take over a month to shoot a film.
- 6- Neither the cameraman nor the star actor turned up this morning.
- 7- Both were good actors, but neither of them could sing.

* Use of : not only.....but

- We use this structure to emphasise one thing/two things.
- To add emphasis, we can use 'inversion' and put not only at the beginning/end of a clause.
- When there is the/ there is no auxiliary verb or main verb be, we use do, does, did.

Example:

- 1- He is not only a celebrity in Africa, but he is also well-known in Europe.
- 2- Not only has she directed films, but she has also won many awards.
- 3- Not only does he act in films, but he also directs them.

Answer sheet of the activities (10 min)

Activity 1: Rewrite the sentences with the words in brackets.

- 1- She seldom appear on TV these days. (seldom)
- 2- Neither my brother nor my sister can dance.
- 3- She scarcely see her grandchildren. (scarcely)
- 4- It was very noisy and we could scarcely hear each other. (scarcely)
- 5- We hardly ever watch films. (hardly ever)
- 6- I hardly know the new student very well. She's just started our school. (hardly)
- 7- We rarely go on holiday. (rarely)

Activity 2: Join these sentences with not only ... but also...

Example: That man is a good actor. He also sings well.

- That man is not only a good actor, but he also sings well.
- Not only is that man a good actor, but he also sings well.

- 1- The film is not only boring but it is also very long.
- 2- He wrote not only the scenario, but he also produced the film.
- 3- She works not only very hard, but she also earns a lot of money.
- 4- They have not only taken ages to shoot the film, but they have also spent a fortune.

UNIT 6: CONTEMPORARY AFRICA/ LESSON TYPE: READING

TEXT: African Start-ups

Africa's youth is buzzing with business ideas and innovative spirit. With 70 per cent of the population under the age of 30, the continent has the highest rate of youth entrepreneurship in the world. Africa also leads the world in the number of women starting businesses, with almost equal levels of male and female entrepreneurs. The Anzisha Prize is a pan-African award which celebrates entrepreneurs aged 15-22 who've come up with innovative solutions for community problems, or who have set up successful businesses. Meet three recent award winners and find out how they made their business dreams come true.

giftedMom

Grand prize winner, Alain Nteff, was awarded $25,000 for his mobile app called 'GiftedMom'. The 22-year-old Cameroonian developed the app giftedMom to help tackle the high death rate of new born infants and pregnant women. His android app helps mothers and health workers calculate due dates and his e-platform also sends automated alerts that help women track antenatal care and children's vaccination programmes. His app has already increased the antenatal attendance of pregnant women in 15 rural communities by 20 percent. He aims to impact 5 million pregnant women and mothers across the continent over the next 3 years.

REPURPOSE:

Thato Kgathanye, aged 21 from South Africa, wanted to change the experience of going to school for children living in rural areas, so she founded 'Repurpose Schoolbags'. a company which manufactures environmentally-friendly schoolbags. The bags are made from recycled plastic bags and they have built-in solar technology that charges during the day and turns it into a light for schoolchildren to study after dark. Thato already runs a factory with eight full-time employees, as well as numerous plastic bag collectors. In the future, she aims to extend and diversify her products.

Yelipapers:

Successful Ugandan businessman, Andrew Mupuya, is a past winner of the Anzisha Prize. He was a 15-year-old schoolboy when he launched his company to support himself through school. The Ugandan government inadvertently helped him by announcing a plan to ban plastic bags to curb environmental damage. Andrew saw an opportunity to produce paper bags. He conducted a feasibility study around local shops and supermarkets and discovered that there was a potential market. He started out by producing bags on a small scale. Since then the business has grown, and today, at 21, he owns YELI Investments. The company employs 15 people and turns out up to 20,000 paper bags per week for over 72 clients. He has a vision of a cleaner Africa with less waste and more recycling. His aim is to have a recycling plant big enough to supply paper bags all over Africa.

Lesson type: Writing (session 1)

Duration: 55 minutes

Source/Reference: Far Ahead 2nd

PRE-WRITING

Warm up: (1 min)

Lead in activity

Learning context:

During the English class, the students of Tle A of College HMF Meagui are asked to write an essay to give their opinion about street hawkers. Then exchange their writing to share experience about this fact.

Writing strategy:

The opinion essay should have three main parts: an introduction, a development and a conclusion

Paragraph 1: Introduction: explain the issue and give your opinion.

Paragraph 2: First arguments in support of your opinion.

Paragraph 3: More arguments in support of your opinion.

Paragraph 4: Arguments against your opinion.

Paragraph 5: Conclusion: sum up and restate your opinion.

Note: For this session, we'll focus on only the introduction and the conclusion

Introductions and conclusion

- In the introduction, present the topic and include some background information, then briefly state your opinion.
- In the conclusion, sum up the main points mentioned in the body of the essay, then restate and explain your opinion.

Activity 1:

Activity 2:

1/ Introduction: Motorbike taxis are common in every town. They are used by many people to move around the city. Yet, my view is that these taxis often cause more problems than solutions.

Conclusion: It is clear that there are some advantages of motorbike taxis. Nevertheless, they are an important cause of pollution and lead to many accidents. I personally think that the number of such taxis should be reduced.

2/ Introduction: Many young people have difficulties starting businesses today. They often don't have enough money to get started, and once they have finally created their business, they don't manage to pay all their taxes. My view is that young entrepreneurs should not be asked to pay taxes during the first two or three years.

Conclusion: To conclude, I believe that young people starting businesses should be encouraged, and that allowing them not to pay taxes for two or three years could be one way of developing youth entrepreneurship. In my opinion, this measure could benefit the whole economy.

MODEL TEXT: AN OPINION ESSAY

TOPIC: Street hawkers are a nuisance and they should be banned from towns. Do you agree? Why? / Why not?

Street hawkers are familiar figures in every town. They sell anything from fruit and vegetables to sunglasses and gadgets. However, some people complain that they are a nuisance to society and should be moved off the streets. My view is that these traders are a convenience and that they contribute positively to the economy. Firstly, hawkers generally sell things that people need, and they are very convenient for people with little time. They are popular with workers who buy snacks during their lunch break. What's more, they are cheaper than other retail outlets, making them attractive to students' and poorer people.

One common criticism of hawkers is that they are dishonest. While there may be a few dishonest traders around, the majority are honest people trying to make a living. They cannot afford to rent a market stall or purchase large quantities of goods, so they buy small amounts and sell them in the street.

On the other hand, it is true that they can be a source of congestion and pollution. They crowd the streets making it difficult to walk along them. They often sell their wares at junctions, causing traffic delays. They also leave rubbish which council employees have to clean up. In addition, hawkers constitute unfair competition to regular shops and market stalls because they pay neither rent nor taxes.

It is clear that street hawking causes some problems. Nevertheless, it is an important source of income for a large number of people and it would be unfair to ban street vendors completely. I think local authorities should introduce vending permits and allow hawkers to work in specific areas. In my opinion, regulation is the answer, not a complete ban.

Activity 1: read the sample of opinion essay about street hawkers above and answer the questions below

- 1- For each paragraph above, select the topic sentences
- 2- Say what each of them is used for

Activity 2: Write introductions and conclusions for these essay topics.

- 1- Motorbike taxis cause more problems than solutions. Do you agree? Why?
- 2- Young people starting businesses should not be asked to pay taxes. Do you agree? Why?
- 3- All street food is unhygienic and it should be banned in order to protect public health. Do you agree? Why? / Why not?

Activity 3: Read the writing task. Decide what your opinion about street food is. Write your essay in 250 to 300 words following the paragraph plan. Think of a topic sentence for each paragraph. Write your introduction and conclusion carefully

LISTENING TEXT:

~ Speaker 1

I don't think hawkers should be forced off the streets because hawking is their livelihood and they contribute to the economy by distributing goods and increasing the flow of money. People need jobs and a source of income and street trading provides both. What's more it isn't true that they are all thieves and pickpockets. A majority of street vendors are women. They sell fruit and vegetables to make a small income so they can feed their families. There's nothing wrong with that.

~ Speaker 2

In some places, you can't walk along the streets because they're everywhere. They often display their wares, including food, on the ground. They contribute to the amount of litter and debris in the street. This is very unhealthy. I appreciate that these people are only trying to make a living and they do help poor people who can't afford to shop in supermarkets. But I think they should be given designated places to sell their wares. The streets would be cleaner without them.

~ Speaker 3

The presence of hawkers in the streets is really annoying. I can't stand street hawkers. They crowd the streets and make them dirty. Some of them are aggressive and rude. A lot of the things they sell are stolen goods. What's more, a lot of hawkers are children who should be at school. They are a real nuisance! As far as I am concerned, they should be banned completely because they don't pay taxes and many of them are thieves.

Activity 4: COMMUNICATION

After listening to the passages, give your opinion about street hawking in 5 lines.

- 6) Most people are too scared to expose corruption practices. :-----

Bribery and corruption

Paragraph 1 Corruption has existed throughout history and it affects all levels of society. Wherever an advantage is to be gained - from lowly paid police officers and local officials, to government ministers and political leaders - it is a very common practice. Corruption erodes the trust of people in the political system of their country, its institutions and its leadership. It affects all levels of society in a multitude of ways, undermining political and economic development, democracy, the environment, health, justice, to name just a few. In addition, contrary to popular belief, corruption is prevalent in rich countries as well as in developing countries.

Paragraph 2 Corruption is both a major cause and a result of poverty around the world. No matter the country, corruption always affects the poorest citizens the hardest. Some politicians prefer to invest scarce public resources in projects that will line their pockets rather than benefit the whole community. They prioritise high-profile projects such as dams, power plants, pipelines and refineries over less spectacular but more urgent and useful infrastructure projects like schools, hospitals and roads.

Paragraph 3 It is common to hear that many developing countries remain poor because of corruption. Yet some rich countries are involved in corrupt practices, too. They often operate through intermediaries to avoid 'getting their hands dirty'. Their companies bribe rulers and officials of developing countries to obtain export contracts, particularly in the arms trade and public works. Until recently, this was accepted as normal business practice in order to be competitive.

Paragraph 4 What can be done to tackle bribery and corruption? One of the most direct methods of exposing corruption is whistleblowing. Unfortunately, most people dare not speak out. Whistle blowers commonly face retaliation in the form of harassment, firing, threats and even physical violence, and their disclosures are usually ignored. In some countries whistle blowers have been imprisoned for exposing scams. Whistle blowers need to feel supported by the whole community and not stigmatised. It is essential to educate young people about the importance of whistleblowing, so that they feel safe and confident to report illegal behaviour. They will be the officials, the managers and the leaders of the future.

Paragraph 5 The media should also play its part in the fight against bribery and corruption by publicly reporting those who are guilty of corrupt behaviour at all levels of society. It is the duty of every citizen to report dishonest actions, and the judiciary's responsibility to sentence the offenders if they are found guilty.

Paragraph 6 The fight against corruption begins at home and in the classroom. Children should be taught the importance of honesty at a very early age. Corruption will never be completely eradicated from society. However, with campaigns involving the media, schools and both private and public sectors, the practice of bribery and corruption can undoubtedly be reduced.

Lesson3: THE ARGUMENTATIVE ESSAY

Lesson type: Writing (session 1)

Duration: 55 minutes

Source/Reference: Far Ahead 2nd

PRE-WRITING

Warm up: (1 min)

Learning context:

During an English test, the students of T<sup>le</sup> A of “College HMF Meagui” are asked to produce an argumentative essay on the extinction of some languages. The best production will be published in the school English Club Magazine.

Writing strategy:

Paragraph 1: Introduction: stating your position

Paragraph 2: reason 1 for supporting your view

Paragraph 3: reason 2 for supporting your view

Paragraph 4: a few points supporting the opposite opinion and reason 3 for supporting your view

Paragraph 5: Conclusion: restating your position

Answer sheet

Activity1:

1/ Paragraphs 2 and 3 support the writer’s opinion.

2/ Paragraph 4 presents the opposite opinion.

3/ The following paragraph linkers are used: ‘Firstly’, ‘Secondly’, ‘However’ and ‘In conclusion’.

4/ Reasons, examples and consequences are introduced by the following words and phrases: ‘for instance’, ‘Consequently’, ‘like’, ‘as a result’, ‘because’, ‘Therefore’.

Activity 2: Possible answer (281 words)

Today, for many children in rural areas, their mother tongue is a minority language. But so school authorities believe that these children should be prevented from speaking their mother tongue while they are at school, and asked to speak only the official language. I personally don’t believe it would be a good thing to forbid the use of mother tongues at school.

First, banning minority languages at school would make it more difficult for students coming from rural areas to feel at ease in their new environment. They would probably feel lost, especially if they are not used to speaking the official language. Besides, refusing their mother tongue would be like denying a part of their identity, which can make their integration in the school harder.

Another argument is that the use of minority languages at school, if it is not exclusive, can have a positive impact. For instance, it can teach children tolerance and respect. Moreover, bilingualism or multilingualism is certainly an asset in today’s globalised world; that’s why it could be interesting for children to speak both their mother tongue and the official language at school.

On the other hand, some people argue that minority languages at school can have a negative impact on the students’ cohesion and unity. It is true that students who speak the same mother tongue tend to remain together and to communicate less with the other students.

To conclude, despite some small disadvantages, it is my view that children should not be prevented from speaking their mother tongue at school. It is the school’s duty to promote diversity and recognise minority languages, while at the same time encouraging children to learn the official language.

EXAMPLE OF OPINION ESSAY

P1: It is true that some minority languages are likely to die out in the future because very few people speak them. Although it is sad to lose languages, I believe that public money should be spent on more important services.

P2: Firstly, in some countries, there are a large number of regional languages, making it very difficult to decide which ones to preserve. In Cameroon, for instance, there are about 250 indigenous languages. Consequently, the cost of preserving them all would be prohibitive and at the expense of other important services. Furthermore, some languages like Bikya in Cameroon, or Njerep in Nigeria are nearly extinct. No young people speak these languages; as a result, it would be an impossible task to revive them.

P3: Secondly, it would be much cheaper and more efficient to have just one or two major languages in a country. Governments could cut costs related to communicating with minority populations. In addition, a common language would promote national unity and facilitate communication. When people from different backgrounds share the same language, it is easier for them to communicate and understand one another.

P4: However, some people argue that minority languages are important because they reflect the cultural identity of a population. If a language vanishes, a whole way of life disappears. Moreover, languages are an important part of a country's history and heritage. Therefore, it is a government's responsibility to preserve them for future generations.

P5: In conclusion, while the loss of minority languages is unfortunate for cultural diversity, it would be far too expensive for society to preserve them. In my view, it would be more productive to spend public money on vital services and let minority communities take care of their languages.

Activity 1: Read the essay on page 88 (FAR AHEAD T<sup>le</sup>) then answer the questions below.

- 1) Which paragraphs support the writer's opinion? :-----
- 2) Which paragraph presents the opposite opinion? :-----
- 3) What paragraph linkers are used? :-----
- 4) Which words / phrases in paragraphs 2-4 introduce reasons, examples and consequences? -----

- 3) Direct speech: ‘please help me to learn Mandarin.’ The girl begged us.
Reported speech: The girl begged us to help her to learn Mandarin.

LISTENING TEXT

There are still about 6,500 languages spoken in the world today. The continent which boasts the most languages is Africa with over 2,000 different languages spoken by ethnic groups. Half of all languages worldwide have fewer than 10,000 speakers and many of these speakers are elderly people. These languages are considered endangered because when their speakers die, the languages are likely to become extinct. It is estimated that as many as 3,000 languages may disappear by the end of the 21st century. But some languages are flourishing. For example, Mandarin is spoken by around 850 million people in China alone. This is because China has the world's largest population and Mandarin is the official language. If we count all the Mandarin second language speakers, there are over 1.35 billion people who speak the language. Next comes English which has around 400 million mother tongue speakers and an estimated total of around 1.5 billion if we include second and foreign language speakers. In third position is Spanish with about 485 million native speakers worldwide.

APPLICATION PHASE

Activity 1: Fill in the gaps choosing from one of the languages in the box. Number 1 is an example.

Example: 1- English

Catalan – Arabic – English – Afrikaan – Mandarin – German – French – Spanish – Dutch

- 6) The four national languages of Switzerland are German, ----- Italian and Romansh.
- 7) ----- is one of the languages spoken in South Africa.
- 8) The official language in Spain is -----, but they also speak ----- and many other languages.

Activity 2: Turn the sentences below into reported speech.

1) 'Please stay in Germany.' the children asked their parents.

2) 'Learn your Spanish lessons quickly.' He ordered the children.

Activity 3: Listen carefully to the report on world languages, then choose the best options for each questions.

- 1- Approximately how many languages are now spoken in the world?
a) Between 6,000 and 7,000    b) between 3,000 and 4,000    c) around 1,000    d) around 300
- 2- Which continent has more languages than any other?
a) The Americas    b) Africa    c) Asia    d) Europe
- 3- What proportion of the world's languages has fewer than 10,000 speakers?
a) 10%    b) 30%    c) 50%    d) 70%
- 4- How many languages are endangered and in danger of vanishing during the 21st century?
a) 150    b) 1,500    c) 2,500    d) 3,000
- 5- Which language is spoken by most people in the world as a mother tongue?
a) Mandarin    b) English    c) Spanish    d) Arabic
- 6- How many people speak English as a first, second or foreign language in the world today?
a) 10 million    b) 150 million    c) 1 billion    d) 1.5 billion

Activity 4: COMMUNICATION ACTIVITY

Listen again to the report and summarise the main ideas developed by the speaker.

Interview

Interviewer: How long have you been living in London, Toni?

Toni: I've been here for just over a year now.

Interviewer: So would you say there are many cultural differences between Italy and England, Toni? Did you find many things different here in England when you first arrived?

Toni: Oh yes. When I first came to London, I had trouble getting used to quite a few things. At first, people, even friends, used to back away from me when we were chatting and this made me feel very uncomfortable. It took me a while to realise that I was getting too close and they were feeling uncomfortable too.

Interviewer: We English need a lot of space, don't we! What about physical contact? How different are attitudes to that?

Toni: I've had some funny experiences with that. I remember a time when I put my arm around Isabelle's shoulders and she just froze. I was only being friendly but she was very upset and told me to remove my arm. I was terribly embarrassed and apologised.

Isabelle: Yes, and you were very relieved when I started laughing, weren't you? You see I thought he was being too intimate. I was very uncomfortable. Then I realised that he was just being Italian! It was very funny. He has to be careful with other people though. Another thing that was strange at first was the way he waves his arms around. And he never stops talking. I have to grab his arms if I want to say something!

Toni: We don't have the same attitude to time, either. Isabelle's parents asked me to lunch one day and I got there half an hour late. It's usual to do that in Italy.

Isabelle: Yes, and my mum wasn't very pleased. You know what the English are like about being on time. I had to explain to her that it was a misunderstanding.

Toni: She was very kind about that. I explained that if someone arrived on time for a social occasion in Italy, the hosts would probably not be ready. It's just not the thing to do. One thing I don't like though, is the way people here just nod and say 'hi' when they meet. They only shake hands at their first encounter. I think it's very odd not to greet someone warmly.

Isabelle: I agree with Toni. I think it's much friendlier to kiss or shake hands when you meet. Actually, a few people do it in England these days, but the majority don't. It's not really acceptable.

Interviewer: What about hand gestures like V sign? Are there many differences?

Toni: They're pretty much the same, so I haven't made any serious mistakes in that area.

Interviewer: When will you return to Italy?

Toni: I've decided to settle in England. You see, I'm getting married next July.

Interviewer: That's fantastic! Congratulations! Who are you marrying?

Toni: Isabelle!

- 6- Why is it sensible to make friends with other foreign students? -----
- 7- How can local students help you? -----
- 8- What support does the bureau offer foreign students? -----

ACTIVITY 4: COMMUNICATION

You've been chosen by your School English Club to serve as a tourist guide to a group of young tourists from an American high school. In order to play your role with efficiency you write on a notebook things they can say and do, and things they should avoid to say and do in your cultural environment.

Things they can say	Things they can't say	Things they can do	Things they can't do

UNIT 8: ACROSS CULTURE

Culture shock

1 It's very important to be aware that studying in a new country can be quite a stressful experience even if you have planned your trip carefully. You will find many things that are different from back home. Consequently, it is very likely that you will experience culture shock after a few weeks here in Britain. This is caused by the shock of being in a new
5 environment and is worse if you feel homesick and miss your family and friends. It's essential to realise that this experience is quite normal. This can affect anyone, no matter where you come from or where you go. So if you start feeling depressed or lonely, I encourage you to seek help. You can come at any time to talk things over with counsellors here at the Foreign Students' Bureau of the university. They are well aware of the problems facing 10 foreign students and will be able to give you support and advice. Now I'll quickly run through a few things that you may have trouble with and ways of coping.

First of all, if you are used to a warm climate, you may find the grey, damp British weather depressing, especially in winter when the days are short. 'there's nothing we can do about the climate, but we can make you aware that this may make you feel down.

15 Another problem area for overseas students is food. It may taste very different from what you are used to. If you have self-catering accommodation, I suggest you try cooking food you are familiar with now and again. However, I advise you not to eat a lot of fast food, as an unhealthy diet and lifestyle will only make you feel worse. Make sure you eat plenty of fresh fruit and vegetables and get lots of exercise. Constantly speaking and listening in a 20 foreign language is tiring, and you may miss your own language. You may be able to get satellite TV in your language. I recommend that you read online newspapers or take part in chat groups in your language.

If you feel homesick, make sure you keep in touch with home. Phone or Skype home regularly. Use email and social networks to exchange news and photos. But don't travel home too often 25 as this can make settling in more difficult. Make friends with fellow foreign students as they will understand your feelings and be able to sympathise.

Every culture has unspoken rules which affect the way people treat one another. You may find these confusing and difficult to understand. For example, punctuality is important in Britain, so you should always be on time for lectures. That's why it is important to make friends 30 with as many local students as you can. They will help you learn about British culture.

Remember, if you feel unhappy, there's always someone you can talk to here at the bureau. We also have a leaflet for foreign students summarising the things I've been talking about. You can take one as you leave.

Task 1: Read Eva Simone's cv. what are her qualities?

Task 2: Read Eva-Simone Kodjo's CV and answer the questions below.

- 1- What are her qualities?
- 2- What type of job do you think would suit her? Why?

Task 3: Look at the qualities in the box. Choose three of them to describe yourself giving examples.

Example: I am versatile. What do I mean? Well, I'm good at doing lots of things. For example, I play basketball as well as handball and football. I am also ... because .... Finally, I am ....too. For example, Analytical, attentive, confident, conscientious, dedicated, efficient, energetic, enterprising, flexible, independent, patient, people-oriented, persevering, reliable, responsible.

Task 4: Listen to a job interview with Miss Kodjo. What job does she want? Listen again, then complete her CV.

Interviewer: Hello. Please, sit down. Now, you are

Eva-Simone Kodjo, aren't you?

Eva-Simone: Yes, that's right.

Interviewer: How old are you, Eva-Simone?

Eva-Simone: I am 18 years old.

Interviewer: You are interested in working as an assistant carer for disabled children next summer. Is that correct?

Eva-Simone: Yes, I'd really like to work in your centre because it has such an excellent reputation.

Interviewer: Why do you like working with disabled children?

Eva-Simone: I worked as a volunteer teaching assistant in a centre for the disabled last year, and I really enjoyed it. I felt I was doing something worthwhile.

Interviewer: I see. Can you tell me a bit about the centre and what your work involved?

Eva-Simone: Well, I worked primarily with deaf children between 8 and 11 years old. This suited me well because I am quite proficient in sign language. I learned it because I have a deaf brother. I also helped co-ordinate activities for disabled children at weekends. I organised jewellery making workshop for them.

Interviewer: Right! I see that you were a school prefect? Did you enjoy that?

Eva-Simone: Yes, I did. I was also the captain of the volleyball team at school. I like teamwork and I enjoy taking responsibility.

Interviewer: Can you tell me about any other work experience you have had?

Eva-Simone: Since I was 16, I have been a babysitter for two families in my neighbourhood. And last summer I was a live-in nanny for four children. It was an English speaking family and I had to teach French to the children.

Interviewer: How did you like working as a nanny?

Eva-Simone: I really enjoyed it. I love looking after children.

Interviewer: What do you plan to do when you leave school?

Eva-Simone: I would like to become a social worker.

Interviewer: Right Miss Kodjo, that's all for now. I'll get in touch with you very soon.

Eva-Simone: Thank you very much. Goodbye.

Learning context:

After the baccalaureate, your pen-friend would like to ask for a job in one of the big factories of the country. You are asked to help him to write a covering letter following the stages below.

Language function: Verb pattern

When the verbs suggest, recommend and insist are followed by a that clause, in formal style, we can also use the subjunctive.

Example: I suggest that he apply for a college course. I recommend that she study languages.

These verbs can also be followed by -ing

Example: He insisted on showing me around. The counsellor suggested joining a sports club.

Writing strategy

Covering letters should be written in formal style. It's also called letter of application. We write it to look for a job. Do not use contractions.

Ref: Work Placement Application: retail

Dear Sir or Madam,

... As you can see from my CV, I have had a lot of experience in the retail sector during the holidays and at weekends, and these positions have given me a greater understanding of the work environment. They have also enabled me to develop a variety of skills in communicating, taking initiative, and the ability to work with many different types of people.

.. I am currently completing my final year at high school in Divo and I expect to obtain excellent grades in my Baccalauréat exam. I intend to do international business studies at university in preparation for a career in International Trade.

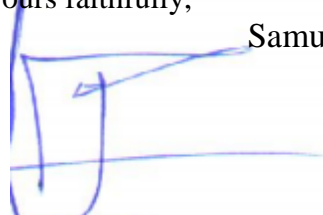

... Thank you for considering my request. I would be very happy to supply additional details that you may need, and I am available for a video interview at any time. I look forward to hearing from you in the near future.

.. I am a conscientious person who works hard and pays attention to details. I am flexible and quick to pick up new skills and ready to learn from others. I am outgoing and friendly and I have a lot of energy and enthusiasm. I am eager to put my experience to practical use in a high profile retail store with an international reputation.

... I am writing to enquire about the opportunities as a sales assistant in your London store that may be available during the summer vacation period. I enclose my curriculum vitae providing details of my experience to date.

Yours faithfully,

Samuel Ndong
