NATURAL RESOURCES

Natural resources are materials from the Earth that are used to support life and meet people's needs such as oil, coal, natural gas, metals, stone and sand are natural resources. Other natural resources are air, sunlight, soil and water. Animals, birds, fish and plants are natural resources as well. Natural resources are used to make

5 food, fuel and raw materials for the production of goods. All of the food that people eat comes from plants or animals. Natural resources such as coal, natural gas and oil provide heat, light and power. Natural resources also are the raw materials for making products that we use everyday for our plates, lunch box as for our clothes, cars, televisions, computers and refrigerators. Renewable resources are those

10 natural resources such as trees, water, sun and wind that can be replenished at about the same rate at which they are used. Renewable resources, however, can be depleted if not properly managed or conserved. Nonrenewable resources are those natural resources that are depleted more quickly than they can regenerate. Fossil

15 fuels like oil and natural gas were formed over millions of years. Once mined and used completely, nonrenewable resources are gone forever. Extracting, processing and using natural resources can cause environmental problems such as: air, land and water pollution; disruption or destruction of ecosystems; and a decrease in biodiversity.
