My School Year and Holidays

Last December, I spent my holidays with my uncle in Yamoussoukro. I went there to enjoy my vacation after a difficult academic year.

Every morning, I woke up early, fetched water from the well and helped my aunt cook. In the afternoon, I played football with my new friends and sometimes we went to the market to buy fruits. On Sundays, we went to the church and then visited the Basilica. It was wonderful!

When the new school year started in January, I came back to Abidjan. I was very motivated. I always respected my teachers and I was friendly with my classmates. I never came late to school and I always did my exercises. I used to queue up at the canteen and I never threw rubbish in the school yard.

But some of my friends had a bad attitude. They used to be rude to teachers, they skipped classes and they cheated during exams. As a result, they were punished by the principal and some of them had to repeat the class.
