THE EFFECTS OF COSMETICS

There are no specific health benefits to skin bleaching; but it can have a desirable cosmetic effect on the skin when used to treat certain skin maladies. The most common conviction among women is that they cannot look pretty if they do not use cosmetics. Cosmetics do have lots of severe side effects, though. Headaches are a very common issue after wearing make-up for long periods of time.

- 5 Generally ladies feel tired, dizzy and nausea after prolonged contacts to strong make-up. The use of hair sprays is even more harmful. It is said that using hair sprays for a long time can result in the damage of the skull and permanent loss of hair colour. Lipsticks contain aluminium which may cause long term anaemia and even glucose intolerance. In addition, if absorbed by error with food, lip balms and lipsticks can lead to many respiratory diseases. Different types of allergies can occur with excessive use of cosmetics.

Women should be very careful while choosing their cosmetic products if they don't want to risk skin cancer which does not have any cure at the present time. Wear make-up, but make sure it is not for too long if you have to spend a large amount of time outside.
